LEO DUROCHER

MANAGER

Two things follow Leo Durocher wherever he goes: controversy and winning. No one needs to be told about the first; who has not seen the fiery manager in action? The second is one which is sometimes forgotten. Leo took over as manager of the Cubs in 1966, rebuilt the team that season, and since has fielded a club that in 5 years has won 430 games while losing only 379, 51 games over .500.

In his 7th year of managing the Cubs, he has led the team to 2 second place finishes and a third place tie since division play began in 1969, and to 2 third place finishes prior to that. Leo is the winningest of all active major league managers; Durocher-directed teams have won 1,875 games.

Winning is the only thing to Leo, and he brought that tradition with him when he joined the Cubs. Among active managers he is tied for second place in most pennants won, leading the Dodgers in 1941 and the Giants in 1951 and '54 to National League flags. And in 1954 he piloted the Giants to a spectacular World Series triumph over Cleveland.

Leo made his managerial debut in 1939, when he was named player-manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers. He was with the Dodgers until midway thru the 1948 season when he became manager of the New York Giants. He managed the Giants thru 1955. Durocher coached for the Los Angeles Dodgers 4 seasons (1961-64).

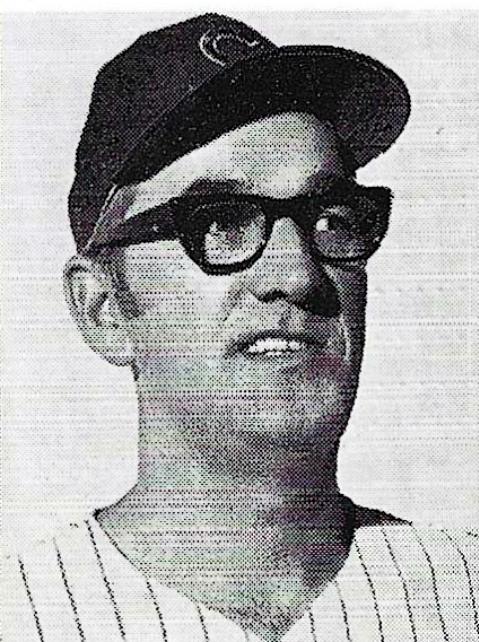

His fierce competitive spirit was developed during his outstanding career as a major league shortstop. In all, Leo has devoted 40 years of his life to baseball as a player, coach and manager.

THE COACHES

Larry Jansen is in his first year as pitching coach for the Chicago Cubs, but his 12th year as a major league pitching coach. . . . He held the same position with the San Francisco Giants for 11 years (1961-71). . . . Jansen, whose active pro career spanned 21 years (1940-60), pitched for the New York Giants 8 seasons (1947-54) and for Cincinnati one year (1956). . . . In the big leagues he owned a 122-89 record, tying for the league lead with 23 wins in '51. . . . He pitched in the 1951 World Series and appeared with the National League All-Stars in '50 and '51.

HENRY (HANK) AGUIRRE 4

Hank, a veteran of 13 years in the major Leagues as a pitcher, this past winter was appointed to the newly-created position of Information and Services Coach. . . . In his new role, his responsibilities will be many and varied, involving players, fans, and press. . . . Hank is best known for his 10 years with the Tigers (1958-67), capped by the '62 season when he was 16-8 with a 2.21 ERA and was a member of the American League All-Star Team. . . . Signed by the Cubs in the spring of 1969, he retired as an active player in July of 1970.

Q. V. LOWE 5

The youngest member of the Cubs coaching staff at 27, Q. V. will work as bullpen coach under Larry Jansen and pitch some batting practice. . . . Signed to his first pro contract by the Cubs in 1967, he spent 5 years in the Cubs farm system, working the past 2 seasons as a pitcher-coach for the San Antonio Missions of the Texas League. . . . Lowe was an All-American at Auburn University compiling a 16-1 record his senior year and leading the Tigers to the College World Series. . . . He holds a masters degree from Auburn.

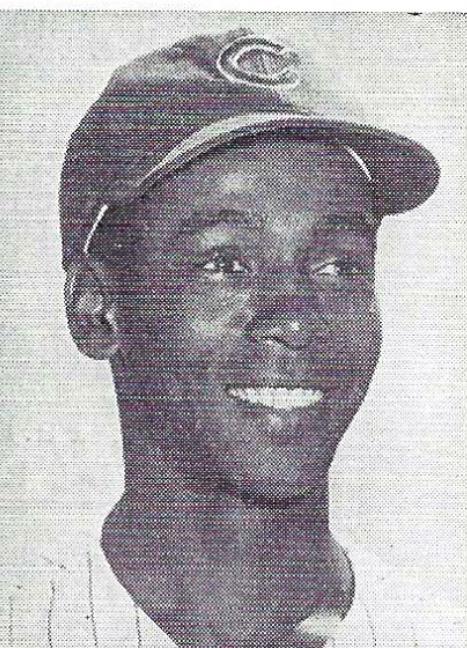

HAROLD (PETE) REISER 6

This is Pete's second tour of duty on the Cubs' coaching staff. . . . Signed as a scout and instructor by the Cubs organization in 1966, he was promoted to a coach with the big club in July of that same year, and remained in that position until resigning after the 1969 season. . . . The past 2 years he was a coach with the California Angels. . . . Pete broke into the major leagues with the Brooklyn Dodgers at the age of 20 and won the National League batting title the next year (1940) with a .343 average. . . . Reiser set a National League record in 1946 that still stands: 7 steals of home.

ERNEST (ERNIE) BANKS 14

For the first time in 18 years, "Mr. Cub" did not start the season as an active player for the Cubs. . . . He was named a full-time coach last winter, to end the greatest playing career in the history of the Cubs, a career that began Sept. 14, 1953, when his contract was purchased from the Kansas City Monarchs. . . . Ernie has appeared in 13 All-Star Games, was Most Valuable Player 2 straight years (1958-59), and leads in 9 of 11 modern all-time Cub career offensive departments. . . . He hit his 500th career home run May 12, 1970. . . . He owns 512 career homers.

THE 1972 CUBS TEAM

MATHEW (MATT) ALEXANDER

INFILDER. Bats switch. Throws Right. Born Jan. 30, 1947. Height 5:10. Weight 162. Married, one child. Residence: Shreveport, La. Acquired: signed by the Chicago Cubs.

The Cubs will get their first look at Matt in 2 years. . . . He spent all of 1970 and '71 with the U.S. Navy and was unable to take part in any pro ball. . . . Alexander completed his active duty in time to play in a portion of the Arizona Instructional League season; he batted .222 in 31 games, with one home run and 10 RBI. . . . Altho he has only played 2 seasons of pro ball, he has demonstrated potential with both his bat and his legs. . . . In 1969, he led Quincy with 23 stolen bases in spite of the fact that he was there only part of the season. . . . Promoted to San Antonio July 29, 1969, he hit .303 there in 30 games. . . . A 1965 graduate of Bethune High School (Shreveport) he lettered in baseball and basketball there. . . . He has attended Grambling College.

INFILDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born Oct. 12, 1940. Height 6:01. Weight 190. Married, two daughters. Residence: Palatine, Ill. Acquired: via first-year draft from Boston, Nov. 26, 1962.

Only a thumb injury, which cut his season a month short, prevented Glenn from getting his full shot at the National League batting title in 1971. . . . Sept. 3, in St. Louis, he suffered ruptured tendons in his right thumb diving for a ball and was knocked-out of action for the remainder of the year. . . . As it was, his .342 batting average (highest of his career) ranked him third in the National League and led the Cubs. . . . He was named National League All-Star Second Baseman in 1971 for the third straight year, and at season-end, was named to "The Sporting News" National League all-star team for the third year in a row, and to the Associated Press major league all-star team. . . . One of the highlights of his year occurred August 21, when he and Don Kessinger both appeared in their 1,000th career major league games on the same day. . . . In 1970, Glenn was third on the club in hitting, and was the only Cub to pound-out five hits in one game for the second season in a row. . . . Sept. 7, 1970, Glenn got his 1,000th major league hit, and in his home town of Pittsburgh. . . . 1969 was an on-off year for Glenn: he was the "toughest to strike-out" for the fourth straight year (22 whiffs in 543 at-bats), was second on the club with a .291 batting average, but missed 31 games due to a series of injuries. . . . Glenn's best season prior to 1971 was 1968 when he batted .294, won the "Gold Glove Award" as the top fielding second baseman in the League, was named the "Chicago Player of the Year" by the Chicago Baseball Writers, and appeared in more games than any other second baseman in the National League. . . . Glenn is a graduate of Allegheny (Meadville, Pa.) with a major in political science.

WILLIAM (BILL) BONHAM

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Born Oct. 1, 1948. Height 6:03. Weight 190. Single. Residence: Pacoima, Calif. Acquired: signed by the Chicago Cubs.

In only his second year of professional baseball, Bill spent almost the entire 1971 season with the Chicago Cubs. . . . With only 39 innings of minor league ball under his belt, Bill was invited to the major league spring training camp a year ago as a non-roster player, and racked-up a 1.35 ERA in 20 innings to win a berth on the big club. . . . He opened the season with the Cubs, was optioned to Tacoma May 13, but was recalled only 2½ weeks later (June 3) to remain with the major league team the rest of the year. . . . Bonham pitched his best ball against St. Louis last year, recording both of his wins against the Cards, along with a 1.80 ERA in 10.1 innings of relief. . . . Two highlights of the season for Bill both occurred against the Cardinals: June 17, he pitched 3 innings of shut-out relief to record the first major league victory of his career, and June 25, he pitched five innings of shut-out relief to win his second game and take part in the first shut-out of his major league career. . . . Bill played college baseball at U.C.L.A. after graduating from Polytechnic High School (Pacoima, Calif.) where he lettered in baseball and basketball. . . . He attends U.C.L.A. in the off-season.

Dividing the season among three teams, Pat pounded-out a total of 20 home runs in 1971. . . . He spent most of the year with the San Antonio Missions of the Texas League, where he was 9th in batting with a .279 average . . . In his first 37 games he drove-in 40 runs and hit 7 home runs, including a pair of grand slams. . . . Bourque drove-in 8 runs in one game and was named Player-of-the-Month in the Texas League for May. . . . Pat was promoted to Tacoma late in the season, where he hit 4 home runs in 17 games, then Sept. 6, his contract was purchased by the Chicago Cubs. . . . Sept. 18, 1971, was the big day for Pat: he hit his first major league home run; he hit it in Philadelphia off Rick Wise. . . . A two-sport star at Holy Cross College (Worcester, Mass.), Pat hit .450 and captained his baseball team his senior year, and was a stand-out starting linebacker on his football team. . . . He is a graduate of Holy Cross.

HAROLD (HAL) BREEDEN

INFILDER: Bats Right. Throws Left. Born June 28, 1944. Height 6'02. Weight 195. Married, one daughter. Residence: Leesburg, Ga. Acquired: for Hoyt Wilhelm and cash from Atlanta, Nov. 30, '70.

1971 was a year of ups and downs for Hal. . . . Acquired from the Atlanta Braves organization prior to the start of the season, he won a spot on the Chicago Cubs after eight years in the minor leagues. . . . However, after batting only .139 in 23 games he was optioned to Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League July 6. . . . After appearing in just 10 games with the T-Cubs he was placed on the disabled list July 28 because of a ruptured ligament in his right thumb which required surgery. . . . Last season contains one memorable event for Breeden: April 23 at Wrigley Field, Hal smashed his first major league home run off Charlie Williams of the Mets. . . . Prior to last season, he enjoyed an extremely successful minor league career: he hit 37 home runs to lead the International League in 1970, and drove-in 116 runs to lead Richmond. . . . Although basically a power hitter, he batted over .300 5 times in 8 minor league seasons, his best effort a .406 average in 75 games at Yakima (Wa.) of the Northwest League in 1964. . . . Hal was a member of the International League All-Star Team in 1970, and a Georgia-Florida State League All-Star Team in his rookie year. . . . Breeden is a 1962 graduate of Albany (Ga.) High School.

OUTFIELDER: Bats Right. Throws Right. Born Oct. 7, 1943. Height 5'10. Weight 150. Married, one daughter. Residence: Tulsa, Okla. Acquired: for Brock Davis, Jim Colborn, Earl Stephenson from Milwaukee, Dec. 3, 1971.

With 2 different teams in 1971, Jose had impressive combined statistics of 80 runs-batted-in (a career high for him), 10 home runs, 22 doubles, and 21 stolen bases. . . . Jose began the '71 season with the St. Louis Cardinals, but was traded to the Milwaukee Brewers July 29th of last season, along with Dick Schofield, for Ted Kubiak and Charles Loseth. . . . Acquired by St. Louis in November of 1969 from Cleveland for Vada Pinson, Jose registered career highs in batting average (.293) and hits (162) for the Redbirds in 1970. . . . He signed his first pro contract with the San Francisco Giants organization in 1961 and made his major league debut with the Giants in 1963. . . . However, after short tours with San Francisco in '63 and '64, he was traded to the California Angels in November of 1964 for Jack Hiatt. . . . Opening day of 1965, Cardenal homered off Whitey Ford of the Yankees in his first at-bat as an American Leaguer. . . . After 3 seasons with the Angels (1965-67) he was traded to Cleveland in November of '67 for Chuck Hinton. . . . In 2 seasons with the Indians, he led the club in stolen bases both years and in 1968 he also led Cleveland in hits (150) runs, (78), triples (7), registered the club's longest hitting streak (12 games), and tied a major league record for unassisted double plays by an outfielder (2). . . . Twice in the minors he led his league in stolen bases: 40 in 1964 in the Pacific Coast League, and 64 in 1961 in the Sophomore League. . . . Jose is a cousin of Oakland A's infielder Bert Campaneris.

ROBERT (CLINT) COMPTON

PITCHER. Throws Left. Bats Left. Born Nov. 1, 1950. Height 5:11. Weight 184. Single. Residence: Birmingham, Ala. Acquired: selected in pro draft from Salt Lake City (Calif.) Nov. 29, '71.

Clint is a young man with an exceptionally good fast ball who, if he can lick his control problem, has definite big league possibilities. . . . Only 3-13 with a last place team in 1971, he still struck-out 124 batters in 107 innings. . . . In 4 seasons of pro ball, he owns a combined total of 340 strikeouts in 315 innings, a remarkable record. . . . Clint was signed to his first pro contract by the Atlanta Braves after they selected him third in the June, 1968, free agent draft. . . . He was acquired by the California Angels Sept. 9, 1969, in exchange for Bob Priddy. . . . Prior to his professional career, Compton played semi-pro ball at Stonewall, Miss., and in a state tournament pitched and won both ends of a double-header, striking-out 20 batters in nine innings in the first game, and pitching a no-hitter while striking-out 17 in the 7-inning second game. . . . In his senior year at Robert E. Lee High School (Montgomery, Ala.) he was voted M.V.P. after not allowing an earned run for the season. . . . Clint attends Troy State University (Troy, Ala.) in the off-season.

Joe appears poised on the verge of becoming a full-fledged major leaguer. . . . He spent the bulk of the 1971 season with the Cubs, working both as a relief pitcher and spot starter. . . . He began the '71 season at Tacoma but was called-up to Chicago May 28 after compiling a 5-0 record, with 61 strikeouts in 65 innings and a 2.08 ERA at Tacoma. . . . In 1969, Joe played a key role in Tacoma's Pacific Coast League championship: he led the club with 23 starts, tied for most wins, 10, and finished 10th in the P.C.L. with a 3.30 ERA. . . . In addition, he won one of Tacoma's 3 victories in the play-offs. . . . Called to Chicago after the play-offs, Joe appeared in 4 games, registering his first major league victory the final day of the 1969 season, pitching 4 shut-out innings against the Mets. . . . In 1968, Decker started the season at Lodi of the California League and after striking-out 75 batters in 72 innings was promoted from "A" ball to "AAA" where he put together a 1.80 ERA in 63 innings at Tacoma. . . . Before signing his first pro contract, Joe pitched his hometown American Legion team to second place in the California State Tournament.

Larry, who spent most of 1971 at Tacoma, was third in the Pacific Coast League with a 3.55 ERA and his 11 victories played a key role in helping the T-Cubs to the northern division championship in the P.C.L. . . . Called-up to Chicago late in the season, he pitched only 3 innings of relief for the Cubs. . . . Gura spent most of the 1970 season with the big club, and the highlight of the year for him occurred August 5 when he allowed 7 scattered hits for the 11-3 victory, his first major league win and his first major league complete game. . . . Larry was signed by the Cubs in 1969 after an outstanding college career at Arizona State University. . . . He set an N.C.A.A. record with a 19-1 record his senior year, was named All-Conference and All-American.

PITCHER. Throws Left, Bats Left. Born Nov. 30, 1936. Height 6:07. Weight 200. Married, 3 children. Residence: Columbia, Ky. Acquired: signed as a free agent Jan. 18, 1972.

Steve, a veteran left-handed relief specialist, was signed by the Cubs early this year to give some added depth to the bull pen. . . . Hamilton, who spent the entire 1971 season with the San Francisco Giants, was recommended to the Cubs by new pitching coach Larry Jansen, who worked with him last year. . . . At 6:07 the tallest member of the Cub team, Hamilton began his pro career with the Cleveland Indians organization in 1958. . . . After making his major league debut with Cleveland in 1961, he was traded to the Washington Senators the following year. . . . The Senators sent him to the New York Yankees in April of 1963 where he spent more than seven seasons. . . . With the Yanks he compiled a 34-20 won-loss record, nearly all in relief, appeared in both the 1963 and '64 World Series for the Yanks, and in '65 put together an impressive 1.40 ERA in 58 innings. . . . Hamilton was acquired by the Chicago White Sox on waivers in September of 1970, and then traded to the Giants in March of 1971. . . . The owner of a Master's Degree in economics and sociology from Morehead (Ky.) State University, he has taught and coached basketball there in the off-season. . . . Hamilton played 2 years of professional basketball with the old Minneapolis Lakers of the National Basketball Association.

WILLIAM (BILL) HANDS

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Born May 6, 1940. Height 6:02. Weight 185. Married, 3 children. Residence: Parsippany, N.J. Acquired: with Randy Hundley from San Francisco for Lindy McDaniel and Don Landrum, Dec. 2, 1965.

Nothing much seemed to go right for Bill in 1971, his worst season in the major leagues since 1966. . . . High point of the year for him occurred June 15 when he set a club high by retiring 23 batters in a row enroute to a 3-1 victory over Atlanta. . . . Easily his best game of the year, he allowed only three scattered hits. . . . In 1970, he posted 18 wins, second only to Fergie Jenkins on the club. . . . 1969 was Bill's most outstanding season with the Cubs thus far: he was named "Chicago Player of the Year" by the Chicago Baseball Writers after leading the team with a 2.49 ERA, turning in his first 20-game winning season, and pitching a career high of 300 innings. . . . He broke 3 Cub losing streaks in '69, and when he won his 20th game of the year by beating Pittsburgh 3-1, he broke an 11-game Cub losing streak at Forbes Field. . . . Bill established himself as a starting pitcher in 1968 winning 16 games, second only to Fergie Jenkins, leading the staff with 4 shut-outs, and allowing only 1.39 walks per 9 innings to be the club's best control artist. . . . In 1967, he was the Cubs' best relief pitcher with a 2.46 ERA. . . . Hands was signed originally by the Giants after starring in baseball, basketball, and football at Rutherford (N.J.) High School. . . . He attended Ohio Wesleyan and Fairleigh-Dickinson Universities.

JAMES (JIM) HICKMAN

OUTFIELDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born May 10, 1937. Height 6:04. Weight 205. Married, 4 sons. Residence: Henning, Tenn. Acquired: with Phil Regan from Los Angeles for Ted Savage and Jim Ellis, April 23, 1968.

Jim, the Tennessee Gentleman, suffered a bit of an off-year following his sensational 1970 season, but still connected for 19 home runs and drove-in 60 runs, the second best RBI total of his major league career. . . . And, he racked-up those figures in only 117 games. . . . Without a doubt, 1970 was the best season of his career thus far: his .315 batting average, best of his career, was second only to Billy Williams on the Cubs, and 10th in the National League, and every one of his statistics represented career highs for him. . . . In addition, he led the club with a .419 base-reaching average, and owned the team's longest hitting streak of the year (17 games). . . . He was named to the National League All-Star Team for the first time in his career in '70, and drove-in the winning run to give the National League a 5-4 win in 12 innings. . . . He also tied a major league record for most assists by an outfielder in one inning (2) May 4, 1970. . . . Following that season he was showered with honors; among others he was named "Chicago Headline Player of the Year" by the Chicago Baseball Writers, named "Tennessee Pro Athlete of the Year" by his home state, and "The Sporting News Comeback Player of the Year". . . . Jim did not become a Cub regular until Aug. 3, 1969, but since has been one of the club's most reliable stick men. . . . Following his acquisition from the Dodgers in 1968 Jim was assigned to Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League and almost quit pro baseball. . . . However, in the ensuing month he hit .351 at Tacoma and was called to Chicago. . . . Signed originally by the St. Louis Cardinals, he was obtained by the New York Mets in the October 10, 1961, expansion draft. . . . After 5 seasons with the Mets, during which he hit 60 home runs, Jim was traded to the Dodgers, along with Ron Hunt, for Tommy Davis and Derrell Griffith in November of 1966. . . . He attended Memphis State and the University of Mississippi.

OUTFIELDER. Bats Left. Throws Left. Born Dec. 11, 1948. Height 5:10. Weight 175. Single. Residence: Baltimore, Md. Acquired: signed by the Chicago Cubs.

For Gene, 1971 was a year for marking time. . . . In only his second pro year, he opened the season with Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League but after appearing in only 5 games, was called to active military duty. . . . While stationed at Ft. Jackson, S.C., he would drive as many as 160 miles 'round-trip, after a full day's work for the Army, to play with Sumter, S.C., of the Western Carolinas League. . . . After his release from active duty he was called to Chicago. . . . Hiser reported to the Cubs Aug. 20, and made his major league debut the same day, appearing as a pinch hitter. . . . He was signed by the Cubs out of the University of Maryland, and assigned to Tacoma in his first pro year, 1970. . . . At Maryland his senior year, he was named All-American, All-Atlantic Coast Conference, M.V.P. and outstanding senior. . . . He was also M.V.P. and an all-conference player his junior year. . . . Gene lettered in baseball and soccer at Towson (Md.) High School and was selected to the American Legion All-Star team, 1965, '66, and '67.

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Born Feb. 7, 1950. Height 6:01. Weight 210. Single. Residence: Jackson, Miss. Acquired: signed by the Chicago Cubs.

For the Chicago Cubs, Burt Hooton is paying almost instant dividends. . . . Selected by Chicago as the number one pick in the secondary phase of the June, 1971, free agent draft, he made his first major league appearance 9 days later. . . . June 17, he started against the St. Louis Cardinals at Wrigley Field. . . . The first professional hitter he ever faced, Lou Brock, struck-out. . . . He went on to pitch 3½ innings that day. . . . Optioned to Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League July 5, he pitched 102 innings for the T-Cubs, striking-out 135 batters and compiling an amazing 1.68 ERA, by far the lowest in the P.C.L. . . . Aug. 17, he struck-out 19 batters in a game against Eugene, Ore., to tie an all-time P.C.L. record that had stood unchallenged since 1905. . . . Called-up to Chicago Sept. 6, he continued his heroics: in the second game of a doubleheader at New York, Sept. 15 (his first start after returning to the big club), he struck-out 15 Mets to tie the all-time Cub record for strike-outs in a game, (set by Dick Drott May 26, 1957) and did not allow a hit for 6½ innings. . . . He wound-up allowing 3 hits for 3-2 victory. . . . Sept. 21 at Wrigley Field he again faced the Mets, this time allowing them only 2 hits for a 3-0 shut-out victory. . . . A three-time All-American at the University of Texas, he owned a collegiate career record of 35-3, with a 1.14 ERA in 291 innings. . . . Hooton represented the United States in the World Amateur Baseball Tournament in South America in the fall of 1970, and pitched a no-hitter against the team from Cuba which eventually won the tournament.

INFILDER-OUTFIELDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born May 13, 1949. Height 6:01. Weight 185. Single. Residence: Spartanburg, S.C. Acquired: signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Terry spent all of the 1971 season at Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League, batting .255 in 88 games. . . . Big things were expected of Terry following the 1970 season when he hit .286 for Tacoma and led the team with 25 doubles. . . . Called-up to Chicago late in the season, he hit .333 in 2 games before suffering a hand injury on a weekend military drill. . . . 1969 was only half a season for Hughes; between military obligations and a broken jaw suffered in a base-path collision during a game he played in only 83 games. . . . He hit .328 at San Antonio in the closing weeks of the 1968 season after winning promotion there from Quincy of the Midwest League. . . . He was the Cubs No. 1 selection in the June, 1967, free agent draft.

C. RANDOLPH (RANDY) HUNDLEY

CATCHER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born June 1, 1942. Height 6'0". Weight 175. Married, 3 children. Residence: Palatine, Ill. Acquired: with Bill Hands from San Francisco, for Lindy McDaniel and Don Landrum, Dec. 2, 1965.

Randy has been forced to relinquish his title of "Iron Man" in 2 short seasons. . . . After 4 seasons in which he appeared in an almost unbelievable total of 612 games behind the plate, Randy has appeared in only 82 games the past 2 seasons—and only 9 games in 1971. . . . Last year he underwent his second major knee operation in as many seasons and although missing most of the season, he worked-out in the Cubs instructional camp in Arizona this past winter, and reported afterward that both knees felt strong again. . . . 1970 was an equally frustrating season for Randy: a pair of injuries held him to only 73 games. . . . Evidence of his value to the club is reflected in the fact that the Cubs had a .612 winning percentage in games in which he appeared. . . . In 1969, he made his first appearance on the National League All-Star Team, and finished third in defense (.992), a scant 2 percentage points out of first place. . . . In 1968, Randy finished second in defense while setting a major league record for appearances by a catcher (160 of 163 games). . . . In 1967, Randy won the "Gold Glove" award as the best fielding catcher in the National League. . . . That same season, he set a major league record for fewest errors in a season in 150 or more games, 4, and tied another major league record for fewest passed balls in a season in 150 or more games, 4. . . . In 1966, he set a major league record for most home runs by a catcher, rookie season, with 19 (the most by any Cub catcher since Gabby Hartnett hit 22 in 1934). . . . and he set a National League record for games caught by a rookie (149) which has since been broken. . . . He was also elected to the rookie all-star team in 1966.

Cleo was leading the Pacific Coast League with a nifty .368 batting average when his contract was purchased by the Chicago Cubs July 6, and despite the fact that he was only at Tacoma a half a season, he still wound-up leading the P.C.L. with 37 stolen bases. . . . With the big club, he appeared in 54 games, working mostly on a platoon basis in center field. . . . In 1970, he spent most of the season with the big club. . . . Prior to his selection by the Cubs in December of 1969, Cleo had spent his entire pro career in the Los Angeles Dodgers organization. . . . In 1969, James was elected to the Pacific Coast League All-Star Team and was third in the league batting race with a .327 average. . . . He led the league in runs scored (93) and sacrifice hits (13). . . . His only major league experience before 1970 was in 1968 when he appeared in 10 games for the Dodgers. . . . In 1967, he was fourth in the P.C.L. batting race, and in '66 he was third in the Texas League hitting race, and was named to the National Association AA All-Star Team. . . . Cleo lettered in baseball and football while attending Riverside (Calif.) Junior College.

FERGUSON (FERGIE) JENKINS

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Born Dec. 13, 1943. Height 6:05. Weight 205. Married, 2 daughters. Residence: Chatham, Ontario. Acquired: with Adolpho Phillips and John Herrnstein from Philadelphia for Bob Buhl and Larry Jackson, April 21, '66.

Fergie was accorded the highest honor that can be given a pitcher when he was named winner of the "Cy Young Award" as the best pitcher in the National League in 1971 (the first cub pitcher to win the award since its inception in 1956). . . . This capped a season when he won a career high of 24 games to lead the League and appeared in his second National League All-Star Game. . . . Fergie also led the League in complete games (30) and innings pitched (325), tied for the most starts (39), and was second in strike-outs (263). . . . 1971 marked the 5th season in a row that he won 20 or more games, the first cub pitcher to do so since Mordecai "Three-Fingered" Brown won 20 or more 6 seasons in a row (1906-1911). . . . He also wrote his name in the record book by breaking the club record for career strike-outs; going into 1972 he owns 1,454 whiffs as a Cub, 22 more than the old team record held by Charlie Root. . . . Additionally, Fergie won his 100th major league game in 1971, he posted a 6-0 mark against the Phillies, he pitched 2 two-hitters, 2 three-hitters, 2 four-hitters, and twice equalled his personal high for strike-outs in one game (14). . . . Also handy with a bat, he clouted 6 home runs to boost his career total to 12, and led the Cub pitching staff with 20 RBI. . . . In 1970, Fergie was third in the league with 22 wins, led with 24 complete games, and extended his own team record for strike-outs in a season (274). . . . In 1969, Jenkins established a new club record with 42 starts, breaking the old record of 40 starts set by Grover Cleveland Alexander in 1920 and equaled by Fergie in 1968. . . . Tho he won 20 games in 1968, Fergie was beset by problems: he tied the major league record for being the starting pitcher in five 1-0 losses and was the starting pitcher in 9 games in which the Cubs were shut-out. . . . In 1967, Fergie established himself as a starter by leading the League with 20 complete games and finishing second in wins and strike-outs. . . . A relief pitcher when obtained from Philadelphia in 1966, Fergie had to be talked into becoming a starting pitcher. . . . One of a very few Canadian-born major leaguers, Fergie has won more games than any other Canadian-born pitcher in the history of the major leagues. . . . A stand-out hockey and basketball player as well as a baseball star at Chatham Vocational High School, he turned down several offers from pro hockey teams for a career in baseball.

DONALD (DON) KESSINGER

INFILDER. Bats Switch. Throws Right. Born July 17, 1942. Height 6:01. Weight 175. Married, 2 sons. Residence: Northbrook, Ill. Acquired: signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Year in and year out rated one of the best shortstops in the National League, Don was a member of the National League All-Star Team for the fourth straight year in 1971. . . . He made another entry in the record books June 17 when he got 6 hits in 6 at-bats, the 62nd National Leaguer in the history of the game to do so. . . . Aside from being the most hits in one game by a National League player all season, it marked the first time a Cub got 6 hits in one game since Frank Demaree did it in 1937. . . . Don also passed a couple of milestones in '71: Aug. 21, he appeared in his 1,000th major league game, along with Glenn Beckert, and Sept. 22, he got his 1,000th career hit. . . . On defense, he tied for the League lead in double plays (97), was second in total chances (802), and third in the League in games, put-outs, and assists. . . . He tied a National League record by starting 4 double plays in a game against the Mets July 21. . . . In 1970, Don won the "Gold Glove Award" for the second straight year as the best defensive shortstop in the National League, he led the club, and was second in the National League with 14 triples, tied for the club lead with 10 sacrifice hits and led the team with 12 stolen bases. . . . 1969 was a stand-out year for Kessinger: he led the National League in every defensive category, and set a major league record by playing in 54 consecutive games without an error (the record has since been tied). . . . He also led the club with 106 runs scored and drove-in a career high of 53 runs. . . . In '68, he led the League in 4 defensive categories, led the club in sacrifice hits and stolen bases, and collected 5 hits in one game. . . . In 1967, he reeled-off a string of 29 consecutive errorless games, and finished fourth in the League in defense. . . . Signed by the Cubs in 1964, he broke into the major leagues in 1965. . . . Kessinger was an all-conference baseball and basketball player at the University of Mississippi.

CATCHER. Bats Left. Throws Right. Born Dec. 13, 1936. Height 6:02. Weight 195. Married, 3 children. Residence: Hillside, Ill. Acquired: for Randy Bobb from New York Mets, March 29, 1970.

Although seeing only limited duty in 1971 (47 games), J. C. recorded the highest batting average of his major league career, .264. . . . Obtained near the end of spring training in 1970, J. C. was one of 6 catchers to see action with the Cubs last season. . . . Martin was the central figure in the most controversial play of the 1969 World Series: the Mets won the 4th game when Baltimore pitcher Pete Richert's throw to first base, after fielding Martin's pitch bunt, struck J. C. in the wrist, allowing him to reach first base safely and enabling the winning run to score. . . . The Orioles claimed he was out of the base path but to no avail. . . . Martin was used at first base and as a pinch hitter as well as catching for the Mets. . . . Martin spent most of his major league career with the White Sox, signing his first pro contract with them in 1956. . . . He was traded to the Mets in November of 1967 in exchange for Ken Boyer. . . . Martin, reared in Axton, Va., a few miles from Randy Hundley's home town of Martinsville, Va., was originally a first baseman, but converted to catching on the advice of Al Lopez.

In 1971, Rick hit a career high of 18 home runs for Oakland, and the Cubs hope they have found a solid candidate for center field. . . . In 1970, Rick led Oakland and finished third in the American League with 7 triples. . . . 1968 was Rick's best season to date in the major leagues: he finished 10th in the batting race with a .274 average, and was named to the American League All-Star Team. . . . In 1967, his first full season in the majors, Rick tied for the American League lead in double plays by an outfielder (6), and was named to the major league rookie all-star team. . . . Signed to his first pro contract by the A's, Rick has the distinction of being the first player selected in the first free agent draft conducted by the major leagues, June, 1965. . . . Prior to his pro career, Monday was a stand-out player at Arizona State University. . . . He batted .356 with 11 home runs, and helped lead A.S.U. to the Western Athletic Conference, N.C.A.A. District 7, and College World Series championships. . . . In conference play in '65 he set W.A.C. season records for triples (7) and total bases (37) and was named College Player of the Year, and All-American. . . . He is a 1963 graduate of Santa Monica (Calif.) High School.

PITCHER. Throws Left. Bats Left. Born June 20, 1945. Height 6:05. Weight 205. Married, one son. Residence: Twin Lakes, Mich. Acquired: via first year draft from Detroit, Nov. 30, 1964.

Although a bit erratic in his rookie season in the major leagues, Ray demonstrated the potential to become a stand-out relief pitcher. . . . His 3.55 ERA was the best among Cub relievers, and twice during the season he entered a game with the bases loaded and no outs, and retired the side without a run scoring. . . . Newman started the '71 season with the Tacoma Cubs of the Pacific Coast League, but after posting 3 saves, 17 strike-outs in 15 innings, and an impressive 1.80 ERA in 11 games, he was called to Chicago to remain with the big club the rest of the year. . . . Slowed in his pro career by two years on active military duty (1967-68) Ray was invited to his first major league spring training camp a year ago as a non-roster player. . . . He was signed to his first professional contract in 1964 by Detroit, and pitched a no-hitter for Lakeland of the Florida State league that first season. . . . He attended Muskegon (Mich.) Junior College.

OUTFIELDER. Bats Switch. Throws Right. Born May 15, 1948. Height 5:11. Weight 185. Single. Residence: Seattle, Wash. Acquired: signed by the Chicago Cubs.

A young man with definite big league possibilities, Bill had a sensational season with the San Antonio Missions in 1971. . . . He was third in the Texas League with a .291 batting average, led the league with 91 runs scored, and with 47 stolen bases (including 4 in one game), and was named to the Texas League All-Star team for his efforts. . . . His contract was purchased by the big club Sept. 1, of last year, and he made his major league debut by batting .375 in 8 games. . . . North learned to switch-hit in the Arizona Instructional League this past winter, hitting .264 in 39 games. . . . In addition, he led the instructional league in stolen bases (25), runs scored (37), and base-on balls (36). . . . Prior to his pro career, Bill played baseball at Central Washington State College (Ellensburg, Wash.) where he was an all-conference player 3 years, all-coast 2 years, and honorable mention All-American. . . . He is a 1966 graduate of Garfield High School (Seattle).

OUTFIELDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born June 25, 1947. Height 5:09. Weight 165. Married. Residence: Ponce, Puerto Rico. Acquired: with Ossie Blanco from Chicago White Sox for Pat Jacquez, Dave Lemonds and Roe Skidmore, Nov. 30, 1970.

Jose divided the 1971 season between the Chicago Cubs and the Tacoma Cubs. . . . He opened the season with the major league club, but after appearing in 36 games was optioned to Tacoma June 17, where he tied for the club leadership with a .327 batting average (altho he did not have enough at-bats to qualify for the Pacific Coast League batting race). . . . Ortiz scored 46 runs in 64 games to help the T-Cubs to the Northern Division championship in the P.C.L. . . . What pitchers term a "pesky hitter," he has batted over .300 in 3 minor league seasons, and owns a career batting average of .301 in the major leagues (67 games). . . . Jose has excellent bat control and seldom strikes-out: he whiffed only 18 times in 251 at-bats last year, and in 1970 he struck-out only 43 times in 611 at-bats. . . . Jose made his major league debut in 1969 with the White Sox, who signed him to his first pro contract in 1966. . . . In '67, he led the Midwest League in hits (129) and stolen bases (64) and was fifth in the batting race to earn a berth on the league all-star team. . . . Jose usually plays winter ball in his native Puerto Rico during the off-season.

MILTON (MILT) PAPPAS

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Born May 11, 1939. Height 6:03. Weight 204. Married, 2 children. Residence: Wheaton, Ill. Acquired: contract purchased from Atlanta, June 25, 1970.

Milt came to the Cubs a year and a half ago the owner of a questionable future, but in that time has proven that he is still one of the better pitchers around. . . . In 1971 he posted a career high of 17 wins and tied for the National League lead with 5 shut-outs. . . . Milt goes into the 1972 season with 39 career shut-outs and ranks third among all active major league pitchers in that department. . . . His best effort of the season was a 3-0 record against San Diego; he also owned a 0.67 ERA against the Padres in 27 innings. . . . In 1970, Milt was 10-8 after joining the Cubs, and his 2.67 ERA led the pitching staff. . . . Although he had a fat 6.00 ERA at Atlanta earlier in the year his overall ERA of 3.35 was good enough for 10th place in the National League. . . . In addition, he blanked Cincinnati 3-0 on 4 hits at Wrigley Field July 23, 1970, the only occasion the Reds were shut-out that entire season. . . . Pappas spent one full season and 2 partial ones with Atlanta; he was acquired by the Braves June 12, 1968, along with Ted Davidson and Bob Johnson, from Cincinnati in return for Tony Cloninger, Clay Carroll, and Woody Woodward. . . . Originally signed by Baltimore in 1957, he enjoyed 8 stellar seasons with the Orioles. . . . In December of 1965, he was traded to Cincinnati in the famous deal that sent Frank Robinson to Baltimore. . . . Milt has been a member of the American League All-Star team 3 times. . . . In the off-season, he is employed by the Attorney-General's office of the State of Illinois in the field of drug abuse prevention education.

JOSEPH (JOE) PEPITONE

Bothered on and off all season by a bone chip in the elbow of his throwing arm, Joe appeared in only 115 games in 1971. . . . But he still managed to compile the highest batting average of his major league career (.307), rack-up the longest hitting streak of the year on the club (19 games), hit 16 home runs, and drive-in 61 runs. . . . June 13 he became a member of the exclusive 200-home run club when he poled one off Gary Nolan of Cincinnati. . . . The former New York Yankee star arrived in Chicago with a reputation for occasional uninspired play, but he was little short of sensational the remainder of the 1970 season: he hit safely 57 times in 56 games, hit 12 home runs, and drove-in 44 runs—all in the final 2 months of the season. . . . A veteran of 2 World Series and 3 American League All-Star teams, Joe was signed to his first pro contract with the Yankees, and after breaking into the majors in 1962 was with the big club for 7½ years. . . . As a Yankee, he was involved in a raft of records: in 1969, he was the top fielding first baseman in the American League, in 1964 he hit a grand slam homer in a World Series game to tie a Series for RBI in one inning (4), he led the American League in double plays (128) that same year, in 1963, he set a World Series record with 7 double plays in the 4-game Series, and in 1962 he tied 3 major league records when he hit 2 home runs in one inning (May 23, 1962): most home runs, most extra bases, and most total bases in one inning. . . . Pepitone was traded to the Houston Astros by the Yankees in December of 1969 for Curt Blefary. . . . He was with the Astros only a half season before coming to Chicago.

PITCHER. Throws Left. Bats Left. Born Feb. 7, 1937. Height 5:11. Weight 190. Married, 2 children. Residence: Santurce, Puerto Rico. Acquired: contract purchased from Hawaii, July 9, 1970.

Juan started the 1971 season at Tacoma, but was called-up to Chicago July 5, while leading the Pacific Coast League with 116 strike-outs in 127 innings. . . . With the Cubs, Juan proved a success as a spot starter winning 7 games the second half of the season. . . . Aug. 5 he pitched a one-hitter against San Diego, and he defeated Tom Seaver twice—once by pitching a 6-hit shut-out against the Mets and adding insult to injury by slamming a home run off Seaver to win his own game 1-0. . . . In 1970, Pizarro was 9-0 with Hawaii when his contract was purchased, but he saw only limited duty with the Cubs the remainder of the year. . . . Juan, whose lifetime record is well above .500 (125-98) has seen action with 7 different major league clubs. . . . He enjoyed his best years with the White Sox (1961-66) when he put together a 75-47 record and was elected to the American League All-Star Team twice (1963-64). . . . He signed his first pro contract with the Milwaukee Braves in 1956, and broke into the majors the following year. . . . Juan went to the White Sox Dec. 15, 1960 in a three-way deal involving the Braves, White Sox, and Cincinnati. . . . The Southsiders sold him to Pittsburgh in November of '66. . . . In June of 1968 the Pirates sold Pizarro to Boston, and during the 1969 season, he saw action with three different American League clubs: the Red Sox, Cleveland and Oakland. . . . He is a consistent winner in the Puerto Rican Winter League where he pitches every year.

INFILDER. Bats Switch. Throws Right. Born Aug. 18, 1940. Height 6:00. Weight 175. Married. Residence: Wheeling, Ill. Acquired: signed by Chicago Cubs, traded to Dodgers for Lou Johnson, Nov., '67, reacquired from Montreal for Adolpho Phillips, June 11, '69.

Appearing in the most games in 4 years (89), Paul drove-in a career high of 28 runs in 1971, aided by the first grand slam homer of his career. . . . The big day was Sept. 11 at Wrigley Field; he got his big blow off Jerry Reuss to lead the Cubs to a 7-0 shut-out victory over the Cardinals. . . . The Cubs number one utility infielder, Paul plays third base, shortstop or second base with equal ease. . . . A product of the Cubs farm system, he played for the Dodgers a season and a half, appearing in a career high 134 games for Los Angeles in 1968. . . . A natural right-handed hitter, he was converted to switch-hitting in the Cubs Instructional camp in the winter of 1966. . . . The move improved his hitting enough to win him a berth with the major league club the next season. . . . Paul attended West Virginia University. He was an all-conference baseball player and lettered in basketball.

PHILIP (PHIL) REGAN

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Born April 6, 1937. Height 6:03. Weight 200. Married, 4 children. Residence: Byron Center, Mich. Acquired: with Jim Hickman for Ted Savage and Jim Ellis from Dodgers, April 23, 1968.

Phil led the Cub pitching staff with 48 appearances last season, altho it marked his fewest appearances in a season since 1965 when he was a starting pitcher for Detroit. . . . Regan also recorded 6 saves, high on the Cub staff. . . . In 1970, Phil led the staff with 12 saves. . . . In 1969, he again led the staff with 17 saves, 71 appearances, and 49 games finished. . . . In 1968, Phil's first season with the Cubs, he ran away with "Fireman of the Year" honors after he compiled 10 wins, 21 saves, and 2.19 ERA in 68 games with the Cubs. . . . That same season he had the distinction of winning both ends of a doubleheader twice: April 21 while still with the Dodgers, and July 7 after joining the Cubs. . . . Phil reached stardom after being obtained by Los Angeles from the Tigers in 1966. . . . Converted to a relief pitcher by the Dodgers, he racked-up an incredible 14-1 record and a 1.62 ERA in 1966 to lead them to the National League pennant and his first "Fireman of the Year" award, and "Comeback Player of the Year" honors. . . . He went without a loss from May 13, 1966, to May 15, 1967, more than a full year, taking part in 42 victories, receiving credit for 15 of them, and registering 17 saves during that same period. . . . He was signed to his first pro contract with Detroit in 1956, and broke into the majors with the Tigers in 1960, pitching 4 seasons for them.

KENNETH (KEN) RUDOLPH

CATCHER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born Dec. 29, 1946. Height 6:01. Weight 180. Married, one son. Residence: Chicago, Ill. Acquired: signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Ken spent the start and finish of the 1971 season with the Chicago Cubs, but the middle of the year he was with Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League. . . . After .085 in 16 games, Ken was optioned to the T-Cubs May 11. . . . Recalled to the big club Sept. 1, he batted .376 in 9 games, a marked improvement over the early part of the season. . . . At Tacoma, he hit .285 in 57 games, in helping the T-Cubs to the Northern Division championship in the P.C.L. . . . Ken spent a major portion of both the 1970 and 1969 seasons with the Chicago Cubs, but playing in the shadow of more experienced receivers, he appeared in only 47 games those two years. . . . Rudolph made his first trip to the majors in 1968, but did not make an appearance in 14 days on the major league roster in July of that year. . . . Ken was selected in the free agent draft of June, 1965. . . . Born in Rockford, Ill., Ken was reared in California where he graduated from Cathedral High (Los Angeles) after starring in baseball.

RONALD (RON) SANTO

INFILDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born Feb. 25, 1940. Height 6:00. Weight 190. Married, 3 children. Residence: Glenview, Ill. Acquired: signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Strangely, Ron appeared in the same number of games (154) in 1971 as he had in 1970, and had the same number of at-bats (555) and hits (148). . . . He had the fewest home runs (21) and RBI (88) since 1962, but was still second on the club behind Billy Williams in those departments. . . . Also in '71, Ron made his 7th appearance on the National League All-Star team, became a member of the 300 home runs Club (Sept. 21 vs. Tom Seaver of the Mets), led the club in sacrifice flies (7) and base-on-balls (79). . . . Ron, year in and year out one of the best defensive third basemen in the game, set a new major league record for most seasons leading his league in double plays (6). . . . On top of that, he has either set or tied no less than 10 major and National League defensive records during his career. . . . In 1970, he hit 2 grand slam home runs to boost his career total to 5, drove-in a season high in the National League of 8 runs in one game (July 6, 1970), vs. Montreal. . . . In 1969, Santo drove-in a career high of 123 runs, only 3 short of Willie McCovey's league-leading total. . . . In 1968, Ron won the "Gold Glove" award for the 5th year in a row as the best defensive player in the league at his position and set or tied 4 major and National League records in that one season. . . . Also in '68, he became the 70th major leaguer in history to hit 200 career home runs. . . . In 1965, he hit 33 home runs to set a team record for most home runs by a third baseman. . . . Santo, who will go down in baseball history as one of the best players ever to wear a Cub uniform, is in the Top Ten in 10 of 12 all-time offensive departments. . . . His 300 home runs rank him third on the all-time Cub list, behind only Ernie Banks and Billy Williams. . . . Ron, who spent his boyhood working in the ball park of Seattle's Pacific Coast League team, was signed by the Cubs in 1959, and moved into the regular Cub line-up to stay in 1960.

Invited to the major league spring training camp in 1971 as a non-roster player, Jim came to the 1972 training camp as a member of the major league roster. . . . Todd spent most of the 1971 season with San Antonio where he finished fifth in the Texas League with a 2.51 ERA and an 11-9 record. . . . Promoted to Tacoma late in the year, he was 3-3 there in 8 games. . . . Prior to his short stint with the T-Cubs the end of last season, his highest ERA in pro ball had been a skimpy 2.89 at San Antonio in 1970. . . . Todd owns an overall won-loss record in pro ball of 32-28. . . . Prior to signing his first pro contract in 1969, Jim attended Parsons College (Fairfield, Ia.) and Millersville (Pa.) State College, where he played baseball and basketball, making the all-conference basketball team. . . . He was named District All-Star in American Legion ball, and an All-Central Pennsylvania basketball player at J. P. McCaskey High School.

RONALD (RON) TOMPKINS

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Born Nov. 27, 1944. Height 6:05. Weight 220. Married, 2 sons. Residence: Chula Vista, Calif. Acquired: via the pro draft from Portland, Nov. 30, 1970.

Ron, in his first season with the Cubs, registered 3 saves, second on the pitching staff behind Phil Regan. . . . Prior to the 1971 season, he had spent only a portion of one season in the major leagues, that with the A's, with only 10 innings pitched. . . . Tompkins gave himself a new lease on life during the 1970 season, when he developed a submarine style delivery (similar to that of Ted Abernathy) while at Portland of the Pacific Coast League, and while there, he had a 2.79 ERA in 29 innings, all in relief. . . . A starting pitcher most of his pro career, he switched to relief pitching in 1969. . . . He was signed originally by the Athletics organization in 1962, making his major league debut with them briefly in 1965. . . . Since '65, he has played in the Atlanta Braves, Kansas City Royals, and Milwaukee Brewers organizations, and was the property of the Braves when drafted by the Cubs. . . . Ron has attended Southwestern Junior College (Chula Vista).

Wrigley Field is never "sold out" in advance during the regular season, even tho all reserved seats may have been sold before game day on some dates. More than 21,000 general grandstand and bleacher tickets go on sale the morning of each game.

HECTOR TORRES

INFILDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born Sept. 16, 1945. Height 6:00. Weight 175. Married, twin daughters. Residence: Monterrey, Mex. Acquired: for Roger Metzger from Houston, Oct. 13, 1970.

Hector, teamed with Paul Popovich, gives the Cubs one of the best back-up infields in baseball, defensively. . . . An excellent glove man, he can play either shortstop or second base with equal ease. . . . Torres enjoyed his best hitting of the season against the Mets: in 4 games against them, he hit .357, including a pair of doubles. . . . In 1970, while still a member of the Houston organization, he opened the season at Oklahoma City, but after hitting .305 in 38 games there was promoted to the big club. . . . With the Astros, he hit .246 in 31 games, mostly in a reserve role. . . . Hector was obtained by Houston from the California Angels organization after the 1967 season, and made his major league debut in '68 as the Astros regular shortstop. . . . He was signed to his first professional contract by the San Francisco Giants in 1962, and went to the Angels in '66. . . . Hector pitched a 1-hitter and a 2-hitter to lead his hometown of Monterrey, Mexico, to the Little League World Championship at the age of 12.

JAMES (JIM) TYRONE

OUTFIELDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born Jan. 29, 1949. Height 6:01. Weight 185. Single. Residence: Alice, Texas. Acquired: signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Selected by the Cubs in the June, 1971, free agent draft, Jim was assigned to Quincy of the Midwest League and set the league on its ear. . . . In his first crack at professional ball, Jim hit .303, slammed 14 home runs, and stole 25 bases—all in only 61 games. . . . He was even called-up to Chicago briefly (Aug. 21 and 22) to fill-in for a player absent due to a military commitment, but has yet to make his major league debut, an event probably not far in the future. . . . Sent to the Arizona Instructional League this winter, he hit .325 to finish second in the league, and stole 18 bases. . . . Tyrone was an All-American baseball player at Pan American College (Edinburg, Tex.) in both 1970 and '71.

OUTFIELDER. Bats Left. Throws Right. Born June 15, 1938. Height 6:01. Weight 175. Married, 4 daughters. Residence: Chicago, Ill. Acquired: signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Billy, already one of the greatest players in the history of the Chicago Cubs enjoyed another outstanding year in 1971.

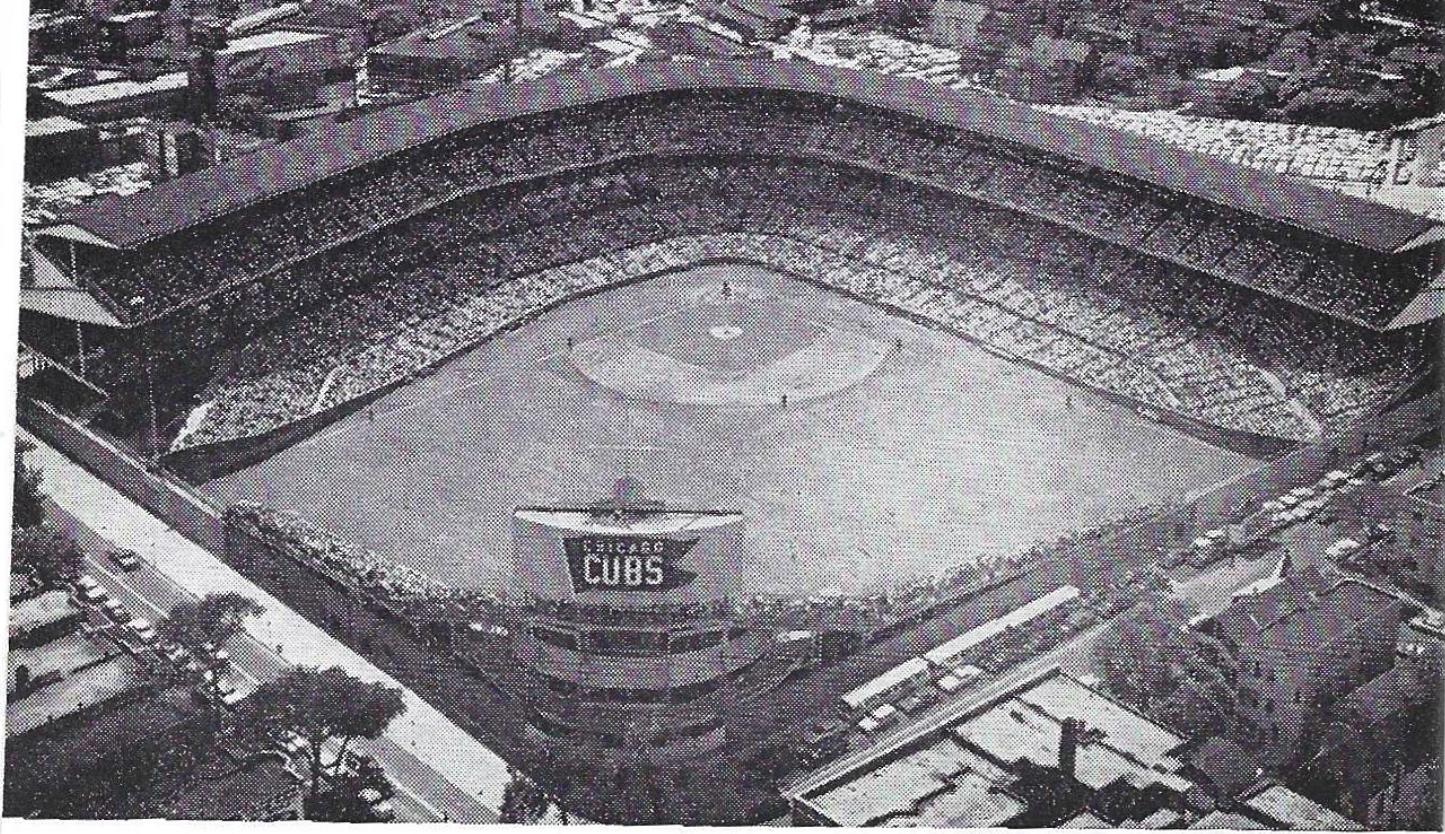

He led the team in RBI (93), home runs (28), total bases (300), runs scored (86), and doubles (27) while appearing in his fewest games since 1961. . . . Billy enjoyed two of the most productive days of the year by a Cub: May 19, he batted-in 6 runs in a single game, and Aug. 8, he drove-in 7 runs and hit 3 home runs in a doubleheader. . . . Billy also passed a pair of milestones in 1971: May 15, he hit career home run no. 300 (off Tom Phoebus of San Diego), and Aug. 17, he collected his 2000th career base hit. . . . In 1970, Billy had the greatest season in his career, finishing second in the voting for Most Valuable Player in the National League. . . . He led the league in runs scored (137), total bases (373), tied for most hits (205), and was second in the league in RBI (129) and home runs (42). . . . His home run total in 1970 eclipsed the old team record for homers by a left fielder, 37 by Hank Sauer. . . . Like Ron Santo, Billy is in the top ten of 10 of 12 all-time Cub offensive departments. . . . Sept. 3, 1970, Billy wrote his name into baseball history books when he completed 1,117 consecutive games. . . . Prior to that date, he had not missed a game since Sept. 22, 1963. . . . In addition to holding the National League record for consecutive games, he ranks third on the major league list behind Deacon Scott (1,307) and Lou Gehrig (2,130). . . . In 1969, he also tied 2 major league records: most doubles in a game (4, April 9, and all of team's hits in one game (4, Sept. 5). . . . In '68, he tied the major league record for most home runs, 2 consecutive games (5, Sept. 8, 10), hitting 3 home runs in one game (Sept. 10. . . . June 17, 1966, he became only the 6th Cub in history to hit the cycle. . . . Williams was "Rookie of the Year" in the National League in 1961, and since has been elected to the National League All-Star team 4 different years.

WRIGLEY FIELD—HOME OF THE CUBS

The Chicago Cubs have gained fame as an organization that ignores convention—and Wrigley Field is a prime example. In an age that is seeing a boom in the construction of massive multi-purpose stadia, Wrigley Field is one of the few remaining parks designed specifically for baseball.

The home of the Cubs is located on 7.7 acres in the heart of Chicago's North Side (street boundaries are Clark, Addison, Sheffield and Waveland) and features an attractively landscaped field for day baseball enjoyment for the entire family.

More than a half-century of tradition is alive in every nook and cranny of Wrigley Field, and the Cubs continue to improve fan comfort without destroying that tradition. Pioneers in providing a pleasant, park-like atmosphere, the Cubs conduct a continuous program of modernization, improvement, and renovation of the structure and field.

More Improvements in 1972

In the past few years, more than $4,500,000 has been invested in improvements at Wrigley Field. This figure is over and above expenditures for each year's regular maintenance.

During the past winter, the Cubs completed improvements valued at more than $500,000. The lower grandstand in right field was turned-in so that fans sitting down the right field line in the lower deck will be facing toward home plate. The left field lower grandstand was already turned-in so that seats face the diamond.

This improvement also added about 1,000 seats to the capacity of Wrigley Field. In recent years, other improvement projects at Wrigley field included a four-year program of completely reconstructing the upper deck (completed in the winter of 1970-71); the installation of plastic, self-rising contour seats in the lower deck reserved seating; the replacing of many, many seats; enlargement and modernization of first aid facilities; and many other improvement projects.

Early History of the Park

The Cubs moved to the North Side location from the old West Side park in 1916. The site had been the playing field of the Chicago Whales baseball team in the short-lived Federal League, which operated in 1914-15. The original seating capacity was 14,000.

The first major improvements in 1922-23 involved moving back and enlarging the grandstand, increasing capacity to 20,000. Next the park was double-decked in 1926 and '27. In 1937 the improved bleachers were built. Then in 1938 wide chairs were installed in the boxes and grandstand. This added to the comfort of the fans, reducing the park's total seating capacity by several thousand.

To enhance the park-like atmosphere, ivy vines were grown on the outfield walls, instead of the clutter of advertising signs. The big scoreboard and clock are unmarred by advertising.

How the Park Got Its Name

For some years the park was known as Cubs Park. Then in 1926 it was officially named Wrigley Field in honor of William Wrigley Jr., who passed away in 1932.

In 1916, Mr. Wrigley was one of a group of civic-minded Chicagoans who bought the Cubs from out-of-town interests that had been absentee owners of the club for nearly 10 years. In 1921 he bought out some of the others to acquire an interest of over 50%. The Cubs won two pennants under his leadership, and four more under Phil Wrigley, the present-day principal owner of the Club.

How to Get Tickets—Information on Prices

Reserved seat tickets for all games are available by mail. Just send your order to Ticket Manager, Wrigley Field, Chicago, Ill. 60613. Available on the morning of every home game are more than 21,000 general grandstand and bleacher seats, for which no reservations are needed.

Reserved tickets can be purchased in advance at the Wrigley Field Ticket Office (Addison and Sheffield) and at Bond's downtown store (234 S. State St., near Jackson).

Reserved box seats are $3.50 for adults and children. Reserved grandstand seats, are $2.75 for adults and children. General grandstand tickets are $1.75 for adults and $1.00 for children under 14. Admission to the bleachers is $1.00 for everyone.

How to Get to the Park

Located at Clark and Addison Sts., 3600 North, 1000 West. Clark St. buses (No. 22) and Addison buses (No. 152) take you to main gates. CTA Rapid Transit trains ("L" and subway) take you to $\frac{1}{4}$ block from the ball park (Addison St. station). All northbound and southbound trains on the North-South Rapid Transit route stop at Addison on days of all Cubs home games throughout the season.

The Flags of Wrigley Field

At all Cubs home games Old Glory flies from the centerfield masthead, highest point in the park. The flags of the 12 National League cities, 8 States, and Quebec fly at the Clark St. entrance.

Before and during each game, 12 pennants, one for each National League Club, fly from the yardarms in the order of the standings of each division on the morning of the game—the first place team in the East Division at top left, and the West Division leader at top right.

The Chicago Cubs flag—red and white on a blue background—display 16 red stars representing the Club's 16 National League Championships. The two blue stars represent the Club's two World Championships.

CUBS WINTER HOME—SCOTTSDALE, ARIZ.

It's called the "Valley of the Sun" and the famed valley, located almost dead center in the state of Arizona, lives up to its advanced billing. The sun shines 86 per cent of the possible time, and the humidity rarely climbs above the 20 per cent mark. No where could more ideal conditions be found for a major league spring training camp.

Scottsdale, winter home of the Chicago Cubs, is a thriving community located just a stone's throw from Phoenix, one of the largest cities in the Southwest, and its daily abundance of sunshine and dry, bracing desert air is perfect for spring training.

Seven Teams Train in The Southwest

The Cubs, in their sixth year of training at Scottsdale, are joined by 6 major league teams in the Southwest. Four teams now train in the "Valley"; the Cubs at Scottsdale, the San Francisco Giants at Phoenix, the Oakland Athletics at Mesa, and the Milwaukee Brewers at Tempe. Also training in Arizona are the Cleveland Indians at Tucson, and the San Diego Padres at Yuma. The California Angels train at nearby Palm Springs, California.

Top-Quality Playing Facilities

The major league club holds its spring workouts and plays the home games on the spring exhibition schedule in Scottsdale Stadium—a full-sized playing field that's major league in quality. The Stadium has a seating capacity of 4,200.

Adjoining the playing field at the Stadium is a half-diamond, which consists of a complete infield layout to supplement the main field for workouts. Just a short distance from the Stadium are 2 complete playing fields and another half-diamond. Here players with the Cubs' associated teams at Wichita, Kansas; Midland, Texas; Quincy, Illinois, and Bradenton, Florida, are given the opportunity to get ready for the coming season, under the direction of the Cubs' instructional staff.

Winter Training at Same Base

Each October, a team comprised of youngsters from the Cubs associated clubs mentioned above swings into action in the Arizona Instructional League.

As in spring training, Scottsdale Stadium is home base for the Cubs instructional team, and home games are played there against teams representing other major league clubs.

The city's official hosts for baseball activities are the Charros, a civic-minded group of younger business men associated with the Scottsdale Chamber of Commerce. The Charros, named for the gentried Spanish horsemen who were the go-getters of their day, also sponsor other sports activities.

HIGHLIGHTS OF CUBS HISTORY

As the only club of the 8 original charter members of the National League which has operated every season in the same city since the League's founding in 1876, the Chicago National League Ball Club again set the major league record in 1971 for most consecutive seasons: 96. In 1972 the Cubs enter their 97th consecutive season of play in the senior circuit.

* * * *

The founder of the National League was William A. Hulbert, who was president of the Chicago club. . . . The name of the team in the very early days was the White Stockings. . . . In the 1890s the team was called the Colts. . . . In 1900 the team was officially named the Cubs.

* * * *

From 1876 thru 1878, the club's home park was near the corner of State and 23rd Sts. . . . The team played several seasons on the lake front near the foot of Randolph St., then moved to Congress and Loomis. . . . In 1893 the club began playing its home games at Lincoln and Polk—the historic "West Side Grounds." . . . The Clubs played their first home game at Wrigley Field's present North Side location on April 20, 1916, and celebrated by beating the Cardinals 7 to 6 in 11 innings.

* * * *

In 96 National League seasons, the Cubs have played 13,981 games, not counting ties. . . . The club won 7,193 of them.

* * * *

Onetime Cubs honored in the Baseball Hall of Fame are:

Grover Cleveland Alexander	Clark C. Griffith
Adrian C. (Cap) Anson	Burleigh Grimes
Roger Bresnahan	Charles (Gabby) Hartnett
Mordecai Brown	Rogers Hornsby
Frank Chance	Mike (King) Kelly
John Clarkson	Rabbit Maranville
Hazen (Kiki) Cuyler	A. G. Spalding
Dizzy Dean	Joe Tinker
Hugh Duffy	George (Rube) Waddell
Johnny Evers

* * * *

The Cubs have won 16 National League championships, second only to the Giants, with 18.

* * * *

All-time major league record for games won in a season was set by the Cubs in 1906 with 116 victories that season.

* * * *

Under the leadership of Charlie Grimm, the Cubs won 21 games in a row in 1935 to clinch the pennant that year.

* * * *

Ernie Banks holds the all-time National League record for grand slam home runs in a season, hitting 5 homers with the bases loaded in 1955. . . . His career total, including his last one, May 24, 1969, is 12.

* * * *

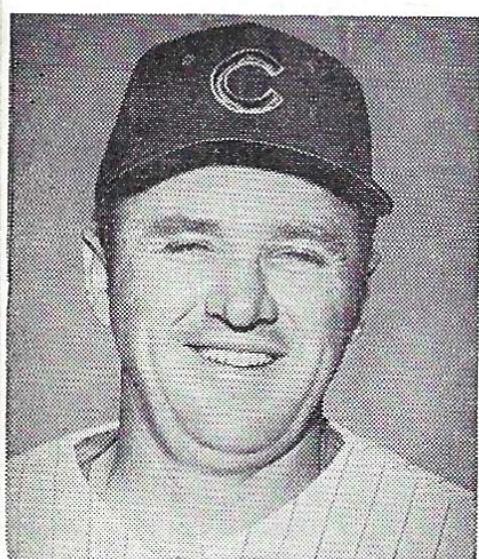

Hack Wilson set the all-time National League record for home runs in one season in 1930, with 56. . . . Hack batted in 190 runs that season, an all-time major league record.

CUBS PLAYER DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

One of the most important "behind the scenes" functions of a major league organization is to find, sign, and develop talented young ball players. The Cubs' program for the procurement and development of future major league players numbers more than 30 scouts, roving instructors, coaches, managers, and supervisory personnel, selected for their ability to work with youngsters.

MARSHALL

Jim Marshall is in his second year as manager of the Cubs' top club in the system. In 1971, in his first year as manager at the Triple-A-level, Jim led the Tacoma Cubs to the Northern Division title in the Pacific Coast League. A former major league infielder and outfielder, he broke into managing in 1958 when he piloted the Cubs' team at Lodi, Calif. In 1969 and '70, he managed the San Antonio Missions of the Texas League, leading the Missions to a third place finish in 1970. He broke into the majors in 1958 with Baltimore, and was traded to the Cubs in August of the same season. Jim played the remainder of that year and all of the '59 season with the Cubs, before being traded to San Francisco. He also saw action with the Mets and Pittsburgh before going to Japan where he played for 3 years for the Chunichi Dragons (1963-65).

WICHITA

Al Spangler, a veteran of 11 seasons as a major league outfielder, is in his rookie season as a manager. In 1971, Al was a coach with the big league club, and spent the last month of the season on the active roster as a pinch hitter, getting 2 hits in 5 pinch appearances. Al began the 1970 season as a player-coach at Tacoma, was called-up to Chicago as a player, and named a coach Aug. 20. He joined the Cub organization in the spring of 1967 as a free agent. A graduate of Duke University, he broke into the major leagues with the Braves in 1959. Acquired by Houston in the expansion draft of October, 1961, he spent 4 years there, and then was with the Angels for 2 seasons.

SPANGLER

MIDLAND

Gene Lawing, director of minor league operations, passed away at his Chicago home Feb. 1, 1972. Gene, a native of Charlotte, N.C., had been head of the Cubs minor league system since 1957. He joined the Cubs' organization in 1946. A soft-spoken man with a quick sense of humor, he spent his entire career working with youngsters—and obviously enjoyed it.

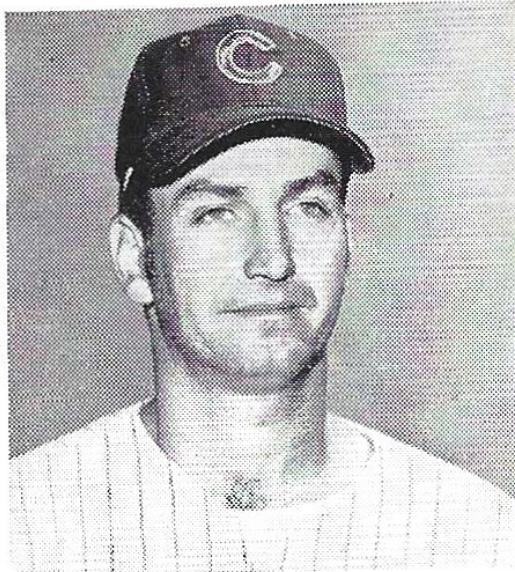

IN MEMORIUM—Eugene "Gene" Lawing 1914-72

Gene Lawing, director of minor league operations, passed away at his Chicago home Feb. 1, 1972. Gene, a native of Charlotte, N.C., had been head of the Cubs minor league system since 1957. He joined the Cubs' organization in 1946. A soft-spoken man with a quick sense of humor, he spent his entire career working with youngsters—and obviously enjoyed it.

LE MAY

Dick LeMay, a veteran of 13 years pitching in pro ball, is in his second year as a manager. Last season, in his rookie managerial year, Dick led Quincy of the Midwest League to a 61-63 record. LeMay spent parts of 3 seasons in the big leagues with San Francisco and the Cubs, and pitched for the Tacoma Cubs of the Pacific Coast League in 1969 and '70. He was elected to the P.C.L. All-Star team in both '68 and '69. Dick signed his first pro contract in 1958 with the Giants' organization and made his major league debut in 1961.

DIXON

Walt Dixon, in his 32nd season in pro ball, is managing the Cubs' rookie classification team at Bradenton, Florida, in 1972. Last season, Walt managed the Cubs' team in the Texas League. Prior to that, he managed Quincy of the Midwest League several seasons, leading the Q-Cubs to the league championship in 1970. Dixon joined the Cub organization in 1957. He broke into pro ball in 1940 as a pitcher with the Boston Red Sox organization, and began his managing career in 1949. He was a player-manager for 10 years before devoting full time to managing in 1959.

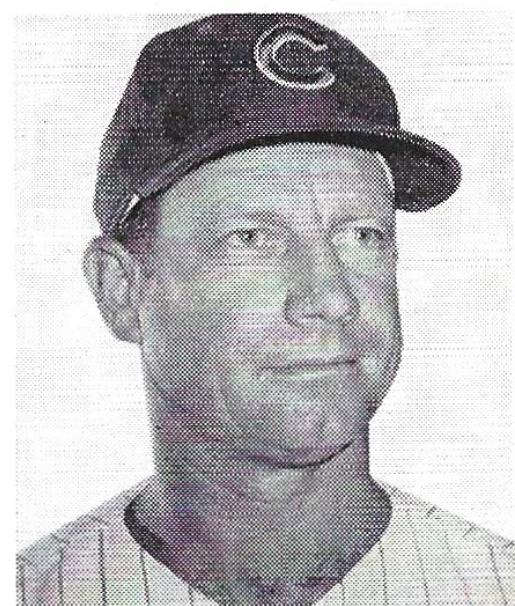

BRADENTON

ROVING INSTR.

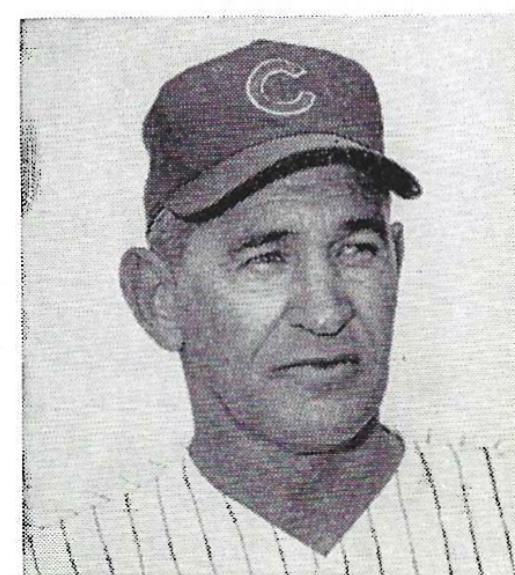

Lou Klein is a roving instructor, also scouts for the organization, and in the winter months works with young prospects at the Cubs winter instructional league camp in Scottsdale, Ariz. Klein joined the Cubs organization in 1955, and led Ft. Worth to the Texas League title in 1958, before joining the big club as a coach in 1961. He was a coach with the Chicago Cubs through 1965. Lou signed his first pro contract in 1940, and broke into the major leagues with the Cardinals in '43. He played in the majors for 7 seasons with St. Louis, Cleveland, and Philadelphia.

ROVING INSTR.

Fred Martin, who has nearly 40 years in pro ball (1972 is his 37th year), is roving pitching instructor in the Cubs' organization and has been pitching coach for the Cubs' team in the Arizona Instructional League the past 4 winters. Fred joined the Cubs system in 1960. He began his remarkable professional career in 1935 with the Cardinals organization and was still active as a relief pitcher at the age of 44 (with Houston of the Texas League in 1959). His playing record spanned 24 years.
